Who Are We

With more than 5 years of experience in guiding students through the top university admissions process and a record of 2 out of 3 of them getting places at Oxbridge in 2019, PrepWorks works alongside students to put their best foot forward when submitting their application.

Our tutors are mostly from Oxbridge & Ivy Leagues themselves, so they are familiar with the challenges and obstacles that most students face.

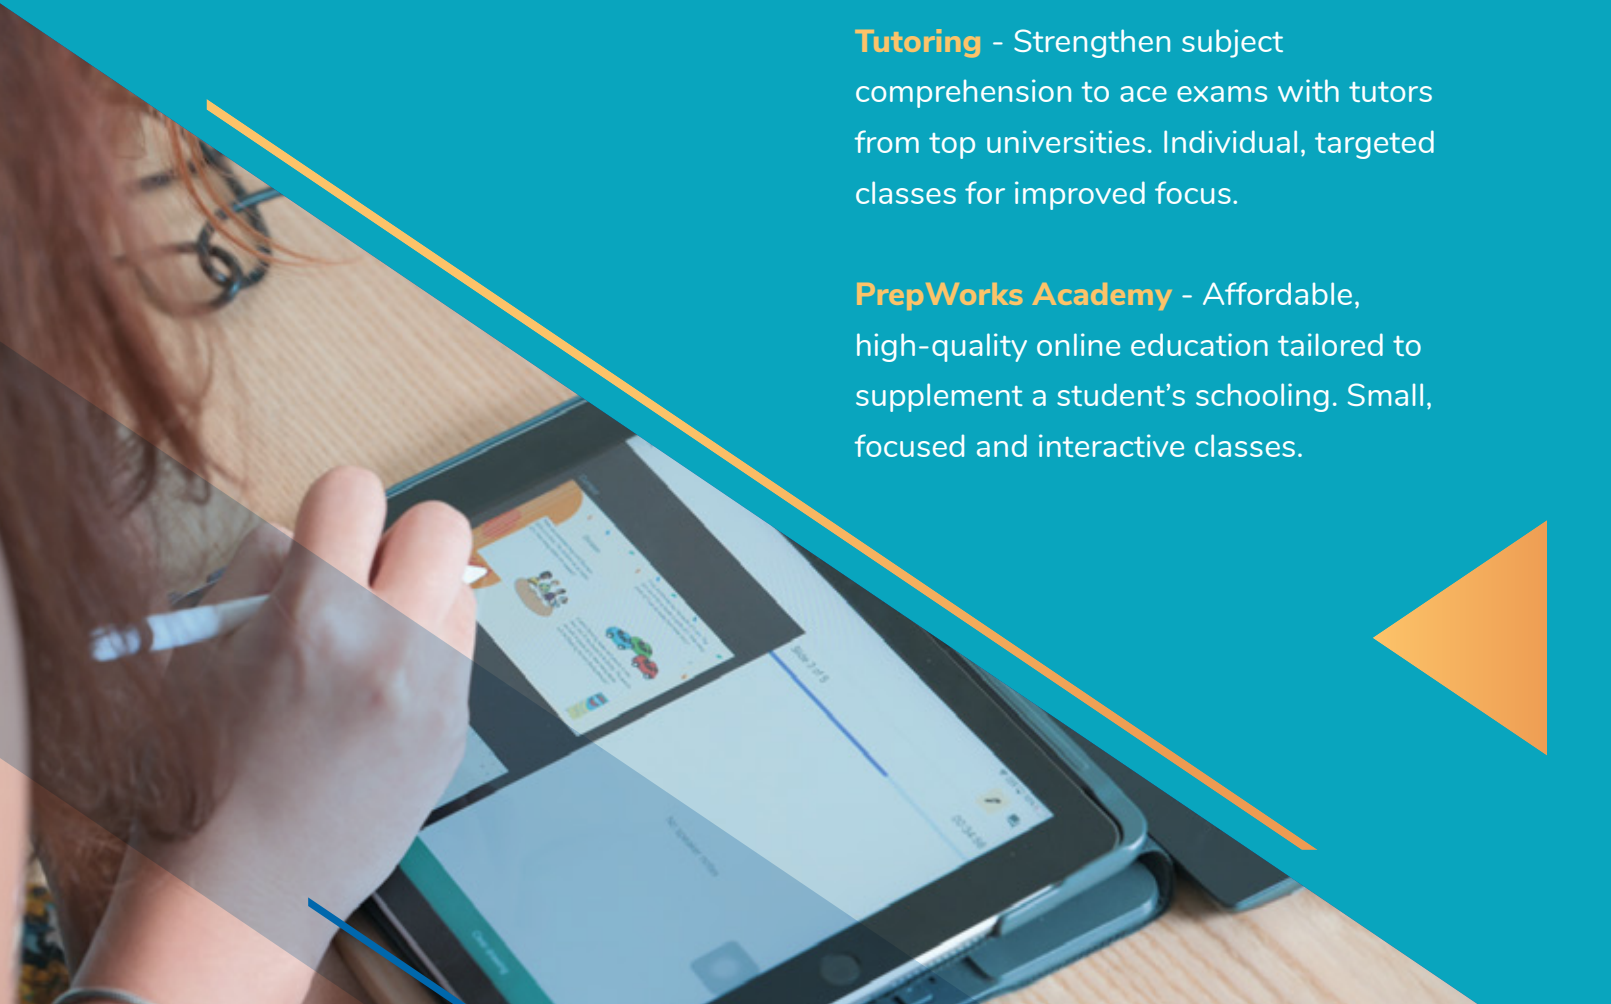

What Can PrepWorks Do?

Our philosophy goes beyond just academics - we understand that character and skills development are just as vital to ensure that these individuals get to thrive even in the most challenging environment. Here are a few of our services:

Admissions - Comprehensive university and student-specific admissions guidance. Includes course selection strategy, personal statement writing, entrance exam preparation and interview preparation

Tutoring - Strengthen subject comprehension to ace exams with tutors from top universities. Individual, targeted classes for improved focus.

PrepWorks Academy - Affordable, high-quality online education tailored to supplement a student's schooling. Small, focused and interactive classes.

Speaker

Tamara

University of Oxford

Tamara obtained her MEng degree in Materials Science from Oxford University. She was awarded an academic scholarship and several college prizes throughout her time at Trinity College, Oxford.

Tamara then spent her 4th year at Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) in the US doing research on “Biodegradable Bone Screws”. Following this, she joined Shell and worked for 9 years in various roles starting out as a Materials Engineer in The Netherlands.

After various commercial roles in Shell, she started PrepWorks in 2015 to provide guidance to students aiming for top universities, colleges and boarding schools. In 2020, Tamara completed her certification in Developing Strategies for Online Teaching and Learning at the Harvard Graduate School of Education. Tamara has helped over 150 students with finding their ideal subject.

Aidan

University of Cambridge

Aidan graduated with a B.A. (Hons) in Mathematics from Cambridge University in June 2012. He was an Assistant Vice President with the Research Division of Khazanah Nasional from 2013-2020.

He has 6 years of experience tutoring in Economics and Mathematics for IB HL and IGCSE / ‘A’ Level. He also tutored students preparing for Oxbridge entrance examinations, helping them gain admission to Oxbridge and top Russell group universities.

He believes in being well-read in current affairs when approaching the topic of economics holistically; for mathematics, he believes in building broad-based problem solving skills from a young age to counter the more rote-learning methods of standard math curricula. In his spare time, he enjoys calisthenics, mixology, tea, reading, travelling, classical music and jazz.
